10,000 Famous People for PAO

9 December 2014

Recently I've taken up mnemotechnics which I've been using formusic andlucid dreaming. One useful mnemonic tools is called PAO or Person-Action-Object. This tool encodes numbersinto memorableunique scenarios. For example I have mapped the number 6 to 'Jesus walking on water'. You can then recombine these sequences the encode longer numbers.

If you don't know exactly how PAO works you probably want to read the Art Of Memory wiki first.

Yan frommentathlete.com generously posted a list of 10,000 famous peopleto use for your PAO system. I've forkedhis list and resorted it by <First Initial, Last Initial> to make it easier to find people for two digit numbers. I'm planning on updating and maintaining this list and will keep this page updated with thelatest version.

Download the latest list of 10,000 Famous People for PAO

If you have any additions you'd like to suggest please feel free to post them in the comments below.

« How To Build an Infinite Memory Palace

Back to Mnemotechnics